HIS SKIN AN ARMOR.

In Berlin a Singalese baifles all investi-gation yb physicians by the impenetrability of his skin. The bronzed Easterner, a Hercules, in shape, claims to have found an elixir which will render the human skin impervious to any metal point or charpened edge of a knife or dagger, and calls bimself the "man with the iron skin." It is true that it has been impossible to even scratch his skin with sharply-nointed even scratch his skin with sharply-pointed nails, with finely-ground knifes and dag-gers. He is now exhibiting himself, and his greatest feat is to pass with his entire body through a hoop, the inside of which is hardly big enough to admit his body and is closely set with sharp knife points, dag-ers and and other small wides with titles.

Through this hoop he squeezes his body with absolute imposity. The physicians do not agree as to his immunity, and some of them think that Rhannin, which is his name, is a fakir who has by long practice succeeded in hardening himself against the impressions of metal upon his skin. The professors of the Berlin clinic, however, con-sidered it worth while to lecture about the man's skin, pronouncing it an inexplicable

CAPTURED CANNIBALS.

Adventure of Mr. Peters, Since Murdered by Mongo Savages. Folk who know little or nothing of the true condition of the Upper Congo are apt to doubt the existence of cannibal-ism. The following incident took place in the jurisdiction of Major Lothaire's old station of Basankusu, and will tend to old station of rasangust, and will fend to dispel such delusions.

Mr. Peters of the Free State, since mur-dered in cold blood by the Mongo savages, was canoeing up the Loport to oppose the Western Arab incursion, which slowly but surely was creeping down the hear bo.

The price of slaves had been so depreciated by the Arab influence, that two boys were sold for the price of a goat, and a man for the price of a dog. Arab-hunted folk were seeking refuge in villages further removed from their devastating raids, and natives, taking advantage of the fears and distress of the refuges. had been tying them listress of the refugees, had been tying them on reaching the mouth of the Bolumbo On reaching the mouth of the Bolumbo, Mr. Peters made a discovery of brutal deeds. In the night, when his boats were moored. Mr. Peters and his men heard the songs from some approaching cances, slave laden, bringing home their spoil. Putting out into the river stealthiy and getting quite near the traders, he completely surprised the cancers.

Six prisoners were taken, others, plunging into the river, were shot. On taking possession of the cances, Mr. Peters found in each human flesh in abundance, the cooking each human flesh in abundance, the pots full of legs, arms, hands, boiled and boiling, other pieces roasted and dry. As figure-head, one of the doomed craft hore, hoisted on a stick, the jawbones of one of the many killed.

MURDERERS' MASCOT.

His Boast That His Presence Has Pre vented Many Convictions.

There is a young man going about the country attending famous murder trials, and the lawyers have given him the nickname of "Murderers' Mascot." He said that he had attended thirteen murder trials in the last two years, and in no case was there a conviction.

He was at the first trial of the Hyems twins for the murder of william C. Wells.

This took place in Toronto. It looked black for the twins, but when their counsel with the country of th saw the "murderers' mascot" in the courtroom he felt confident of victor.

"If you will remain right with us here."
he said, "we'll win the jury sure." He remained and the jury disagreed. He went back to Toronto to be present at the second trial. New York Press.

vocate Many Reforms in Laws.

The Grade Crossings Question Will Be the Subject of Vigorous Action. Extension of Streets-Street Lighting Improvements-Public Library

"I have known the Commissioners' re-port," said Mr. Ross, today, "to be fin-ished as late as Monday morning before Congress met. We haven't had even one secting yet to consider the report for this

"Of course all the department reports combined with it are in and printed, and each of us is thinking over what we want to put in. But the report is one of the things that can be left till the last, and there is always much else that is pressing for imme-ways much else that is pressing for immediate settlement."

The report will probably contain recommendations as to the extension of streets, changes in the sewer system, street lighting, municipal building, public library, harbor boat, and harbor improvements.

The decision of the District supreme court that the purchase of property at tax sale relieves said property of the hen of all unpaid prior taxes upon it, is still a bar to the collection of a large amount of arrearages of taxes, and an encouragement to tax-payers to be dilatory in the payment of their taxes, in the hope that they may ultimately evade their payment under the aforesaid ruling.

The Commissioners have sought to cover the defects of existing law on the subject by preparation and submission to the first session of the Fifty-third Congress of a bill in relation to taxes and tax sales, and now earnestly reiterate their recommendation of its early enactment.

GRADE CROSSINGS.

GRADE CROSSINGS

One subject to receive consideration is the grade crossings of the steam railroads. The recent attack made by the roads upon The recent attack made by the roads upon the Commissioners in joint equity suits only serves to arouse them to more vigorous action against what they have long considered one of the most serious wrongs suffered by the people. Their views were expressed strongly in the report of last year. Their words then were as follows:

"So far as known, no action was taken by any of the steam railroads in the District toward changing the elevation of its tracks from that of the street or road crossing.

tracks from that or the stress or road crossing.

"Notwithstanding precautions of feaces, gates, watchmen or aignals, accidents continue to occur, by which persons traveling on public highways are mangled to death by passing trains.

"The stoppage by trains of street traffic is a matter of serious inconvenience and loss to the public.

loss to the public.

"The Commissioners recommend the enactment of a law compelling steam railway companies to change their track crossings from grade levels in Washington, within two and a half years and in the county from grade levels in Washington, within two and a half years and in the county within five years, upon plans subject to the approval of the Commissioners."

But the last Congress failed to do anything at all about the matter. Since the last Commissioners' report the situation has grown worse, rather than better. Two rapid transit street car lines crossing steam road tracks have gone into operation, the city has grown in population and tratise and the evidence of the increased dangers has appeared in numerous accidents, some of them fatal.

The seriousness of the situation has been kept before the public by the citizens' associations, by The Times and by other agencies. The Commissioners have recognized the added dangers by making a police order requiring the roads to stop their trains at crossings and to observe other raise for the safety of possers on the streets. These rules the managers of the roads claim are almost prohibitive of traffic. The Commissioners have answered this already in their report of last year, quoted above.

AN EXPENSIVE RELIEF.

the attention of Congress with greatly in-creased energy.

The prospect for the passage of the legis-lation required is considered much letter than in the last session of Congress. There are hundreds of new members, and they have not been in reach of the influences which railroads use so effectively to pre-vent action unfavorable to them. Many of these new men are designed to make according these new men are desirous to make records these new men are desirous to make records for themselves, and not a few see the grow-ing interest of the people in matters that touch their own safety and convenience in their relations with owners of valuable franchises given by the people.

The terms of 136 postmasters expire during the month, and there are also eight other vacancies caused by deaths of postmasters whose successors will have to be chosen. The principal offices where post-mastership terms expire during Decem-ber are Portland, Maine, on December 16, and Hartford, Conn., and East Provi-dence, R. I., on December 17. Another big office, which soon will be filled, is Al-office, which soon will be filled, is Altoona, Pa. In none of these offices has any spirited contest so far developed, and few papers are on file at the Post-office Department in the cases.

Hartford is Senator Hawley's home and he doubtless will name the incumbent. As East Providence the appointee probably will be Senator Aldrich's candidate, while the Portland office may be filled by some agreement between the two Senators, neither of whom is a resident of that city.

Post-office Department of fletals point

Post-office Department officials point out a remarkable increase in the marrielty among postmasters, disproportionate to the increase in the list. Buring the past year there were approximately thirty-five among those of the Presidential class. This is said to be larger than for any year in the past fifteen or twenty years, and is attributed to generally prevailing and calth-ful conditions.

A few days ago the deaths of the presimasters at Bowle, Texas, and Albert Lee, Minn., were amounted similar analy, and last Saturday the Department of the second tifled of the deaths of Postmaster Charles B.
